About Fiberli

Introduction

Look around you!

Above all, there was always light. It allows us to comprehend life, discerning between darkness and light, ignorance and wisdom.

Light has played a crucial role in the advancement of humanity. Light has brought our eyes together with the colors of the world and bestowed upon us aesthetic feelings. If there is light, life is beautiful!

Timeline

Story Beyond The Polar Bear

While polar bears inhabit vast ice-covered expanses, we often assume that their thick white fur protects them from the cold. Contrary to appearances, their skin is actually close to black in color. Each white hair in their fur exhibits fiber-optic properties, channeling the sunlight they capture directly to their dark-pigmented skin, transforming it into heat.

This remarkable mechanism allows them to harness sunlight with utmost efficiency.

And thus, Fiberli was born from this phenomenon. Our inspiration from nature, our dedication to energy efficiency, and the perfect harmony of technology are symbolized by the polar bear in our logo.

A Tower Through Time
Built in 1348 by the Genoese, Galata Tower has served over the centuries as a watchtower, prison, fire lookout, and observation deck.

Today, it is not just a historical monument but also a symbolic face of modern urban lighting.

Through the façade lighting project executed with Fiberli products, this landmark has redefined Istanbul's nighttime skyline.
